INTRODUCING HOUSE SPEAKER WRIGHT, YOU-ALL...

MOVING? Please use form inside paper and give full information. Mailing list is run on Friday for following week.

Since Representative Jim Wright is our congressman in our home 12th District and since we have been familiar with his congressional career from the beginning, we feel we would have more than somewhat derelict in our duty if we did not try to make all of Texas and the parts of the United States who read The Weekly Livestock Reporter, knowledgeable about Jim. The Speakership is usually called the second most powerful political job in the U.S., second only to the Presidency.

Jim's independence, sometimes called bull-headedness, is well known hereabouts. We recall an occasion some years back when Jim reported his district mail was running something like 30 to 1 against some proposal, but he was gonna support it anyway. Even before Jim became of- (CONT. ON PAGE 2)

The Weekly Livestock Reporter Starts 1987 With Renewed Determination To Better Serve Southwestern Producers

BY TED GOULDY.

The Year 1986 was a tough one in many ways, but those of us in the livestock business have been down that road before. 1987 will be the 91st year for The Weekly Livestock Reporter in bring you the news and market reports and to make every effort to strengthen the bargaining power livestock producers and all of the people involved in what is now known as Agribusiness.

As we turn onto the New Year Highway our Staff will be making every effort to be of service to each of you and to try to help you enjoy maximum returns from your efforts in every line of Agribusiness. We sincerely hope and urge you to let us know anytime we can be of service or assistance to you.

Most of those making projections for 1987 agree that agricultural and livestock income should be better than last year. We find no fault with that. Livestock and farming folks are normally just a little bit harder and more resourceful than the run of the mill citizens of these great United States.

One thing you and all of us can be certain about. That is that our chosen field is changing. We intend for the upcoming changes to be good for everyone involved in Agribusiness and we pledge you that we will fight for what is good and we will fight against what is bad for you and yours.

We enter 1987 with the finest, professional staff in our field. The Reporter folks look forward to serving you. Anytime we can do so, we hope you will let us know. Let us hear from you early and often.

Reagan To Submit Budget Cutting Farm Program Costs

Washington, (KRF) — The Reagan Administration intends to propose ways to cut farm program costs in its fiscal 1988 budget, including stricter payment limits and methods to end the link between production and loan guarantees, the budget director said last week.

James Miller, director of the Office of Management and Budget, told a small group of reporters the Administration would try to get farm program costs back under control.

Those costs have ballooned to $25.8 (CONT. ON PAGE 28)

Market Hogs Reported Down By 3%, Breeding Hogs Also Are 3% Lower, Farrowing Intentions Slightly Higher

Washington, Dec. 22 (USDA) — U.S. inventory of all hogs and pigs is estimated at 61.0 million on Dec. 1, 1986, according to the Agricultural Statistics Board. This is 3% below a year ago, 8% less than Dec. 1, 1984 and the lowest December 1 inventory since 1975.

Breeding hog inventory at 6.81 million, is 3% below last year and 5% below two years ago. This is the lowest December 1 breeding inventory since breeding inventory estimates were first begun in 1983.

Market hog inventory at 44.3 million, is 3% below a year ago and 8% below two years ago.

The 10 quarterly states with 39.7 million head on Dec. 1, 1986, are down 3% from a year earlier and 6% from Dec. 1, 1984. Those 10 states account for approximately 78% of the total U.S. hog and pig inventory.

The U.S. pig crop for 1986 totaled 82.3 million head, 4% below 1985 and 5% below the 1984 pig crop.

December 1986 — May 1986 pig crop, estimated at 40.3 million head, is down 5% from both a year earlier and the comparable period in 1984.

June — November 1986 pig crop, estimated at 42.0 million head, is 3% below last year, and 5% below the June — November 1984 crop.

A total of 5.42 million sows farrowed during June — November 1986, 4% below a year earlier and 7% below the June — November 1984 period. The litter size during this period averaged a record high 7.74, up from the previous record of 7.57 set a year earlier and up from 7.54 for the June — November 1984 period.

In the 10 quarterly states, the June — August 1986 pig crop totaled 15.9 million head, 6% below the same quarter a year earlier. For the September — November period, the pig crop of 18.7 million head is 3% below the same period in 1986.

U.S. hog producers intend to have 5.34 million sows farrow during the December 1986 — May 1987 period, up from a year ago. Intentions in the 10 quarterly states totaled 1.87 million sows to farrow during December 1986 — February 1987. This is up slightly from actual farrowings during the same period a year earlier. The March — May 1987 intentions at 2.21 million, are 2% above the March-May 1986 quarter.

Reliability and estimating procedures: primary data used in setting these hog estimates were obtained from a sample of farmers across the U.S. using probability surveys. Information was collected by mail, telephone and personal interviews. Since all operations raising hogs were not included in the sample, survey estimates are subject to sampling variability. This variability, as measured by the relative standard error, is about two percent at the U.S. level for hog inventory. This means that changes are approximately 0.5 out of 100 that survey estimates will be within four percent of the complete coverage value if the same procedures were used to survey all producers.

Survey estimates are also subject to non-sampling errors such as omissions, duplications, and mistakes in reporting, recording and processing the data.

These errors cannot be measured directly, but they are minimized through rigid quality controls in the data collection process and a careful review of all reported data for consistency and reasonableness.

The sampling variability of survey estimates on intended farrowings is slightly larger than that for inventories. More important, actual farrowings may differ significantly from reported intentions due to changes in economic and environmental conditions. For second intentions these differences have exceeded 5% in two of the last 10 quarterly December — February pig crops. For first intentions these differences have exceeded 0% in three of the last 10 quarterly March — May pig crops.

In setting the inventory estimates, the Agricultural Statistics Board constructed a U.S. balance sheet using estimates on births, deaths and check data on slaughter, imports and exports. The balance sheet provided an additional check on survey inventory estimates.

Continuing a rebuilding trend with the December 1 inventory of 510,000 head, up 17 percent from last year and 23 percent from 1984's record low level. Despite the increase, this was the third lowest December inventory on record.

The number of breeding hogs increased 8 percent from a year ago to 70,000 head, while market hogs increased 16 percent.

The December market-hog inventory totaled 440,000 head, according to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service. Market hogs accounted for 88 percent of the total inventory. The inventory of market hogs weighing less than 120 pounds was above last year, while hogs weighing more than 120 pounds were below year ago levels.

The 1986 pig crop, up 3 percent from a year earlier, totaled 718,000 head. During the first six months of the year, pigs per litter averaged 7.1, compared to 7.0 last year.

Officially Speaker he has shook up some of his House colleagues by advocating a tax increase. His appointment of unoppressive members to the select committee and urging of President Reagan to pardon Poincaré and Ollie North has shook up House members who are now claiming he is a liar and did not even discuss these matters with them.

Jim also has riled the distaff side by failing to name any of the dozen female women in his House to one of the eight deputy Democratic whip posts and likewise irked up the Indian when he ignored their pleas for a female member on the Indian Affairs Committee. So much for Congress.

People in the Southwest, especially Texas, can expect something similar to the benign benevolence we got during the John G. Garner and Sam Rayburn years. We venture this opinion because of Jim's track record in his home district, his House, and especially Defense Committee, has never had a letter advocate. His advocacy has not been limited to the biggies.

For instance, his latest move which added a $20 million flood control item to the general spending bill which was designated to harness flood waters of Tony's Creek in the Stockyards district. When Tony's Creek surfaced there was considerable confusion, even in the Stockyards environs. Finally Elmo Klingenberg, a former manager of the Stockyards, let us know that Tony's Creek is clearly defined on old stockyards maps as running in a southerly direction to Marine Creek and was located on the spot that has been covered by the Belt Railway since shortly after the turn of the Century. Since the early 1900's Tony's Creek has been a storm sewer.

The revitalization of the Stockyards District has been a pet project of Jim's from the beginning. In all he had guided $38 million into this renovation and cleanup and more recently got $7.5 million for roads, water and sewer lines for the area.

Of course some critics are already pointing fingers at news that one of Jim's financial partners and real estate developer, all operator, and good friend in one of whom comes Jim, resident within in Cowtown rent free, except for utilities and fees. Mr. & Mrs. Jim Wright are also partners with Mr. & Mrs. George Molick in an investment firm called Moflightco. The Moflight connection stirred interest since Molick has expressed an interest in investing in the Stockyards. Wright watchers will be watching.

Meanwhile the rather quiet days of Tip O'Neill are gone. Quiet isn't usual in the abundance when Jim Wright has his way.

Ever think, The Editor.

P.S.: Uncle Dunk reports about the only folks he has run into who are tickled pink with the Tax Reform act are professional tax preparers and lawyers who privately are joking

If You Raise Coastal For Hay Or Grazing... YOU NEED The Revolutionary PORCUPINE®

PORCUPINE
Soil Aerator

Or Porcupine Jr.
Here's how it works...

The "PORCUPINE" SOIL AERATOR is designed to promote better Grass growth. Greater soil water holding ability, better penetration of Fertilizer into the soil and prevent hardpan.

Simply use this tool to Aerate your pastures all during the year, especially before fertilizing. The SOIL AERATOR punches thousands of slits 4 to 5 1/2" deep into the soil thus permitting the Fertilizer to get down to the roots and not wash or blow away on topsoil. The pointed spikes are welded in a pattern on the unit to permit more soil penetration and maximum ground "punching." This allows more water and moisture holding capacity for faster root growth. You can also attach twin Harrows behind the SOIL AERATOR to break up cow chips and spread them at the same time... all this without any damage to the field, any new sprigs or present growth. Wheels are mounted on the tongue of the unit for transportation of the AERATOR. Simply Jack it up and place the wheels under it for easy movement from pasture to pasture or ranch to ranch.

An 80 horsepower minimum tractor is recommended to pull the standard aerator. We also manufacture a smaller model of the Porcupine, which can be pulled with a 45 horsepower tractor. This model is 4 feet narrower in width, but has the same punching power as the standard Porcupine.

Heavyweight Hogs Industry Concern

Chicago, Ill. 10 (KRM) — Continuing record hog/corn ratios are keeping more hogs at the corn bin, fueling not only hog weights but also some of the industry's concerns throughout the livestock industry. In recent sessions, Doc, live hog futures have fallen 218 points to $33.42 per cwt and Feb. has dropped 160 to settle at $50.05. As of Dec. 18, USDA posted the hog/corn ratio of 33.3%, in parity with last week but up 13.5% from last year. Thursday, USDA's seven-market hog daily average barrow and gilt weight averaged 247.64 pounds, up from 246.81 last week and 244.72 last year.

Many market watchers said they had never seen the hog/corn ratio sustain such a level since the weight increase to the fact hog producers are in much better financial shape this year than 1985 — because of lucrative hog prices over the last several months. As a result, they can afford to keep the hogs until the market's price is right, one industry observer said. Others said the "unprecedented" gains were occurring because hogs were making up a larger percentage of the slaughter mix than usual, for tax-related reasons. Moreover, this year liquidation may prevail into early 1987 as well as producers can benefit from capital gains and other current deductions that are unavailable under the new tax law, they added. Recent moderate temperatures throughout the corn belt favored feed conversions, accelerating the weight gains, they said. The net result could translate into total hog tonnage close to year-earlier levels, they said. Some producers, however, are tempering weight gains because many hog terminals are working at capacity now and are unable to house the increased tonnage, said one market watcher. Other industry analysts believe these weight increases will not only be halting but also trending lower by the end of the year after "topping-out" last week. Seasonally, hog weights should have begun to slip in early December. USDA's seven-market average price/weight for barrows and gilts for the week ended Dec. 12 averaged

Futures Talk

Week Ended Dec. 24

The most important element of a successful futures contract is that it fits the needs of the people who are in the market. The sale is being held in conjunction with the 14th National North American South Devon Association Show to be held at 1:00 p.m., January 14, 1987. Show judge will be Bill Hishel. For information, contact the sale the business, the hedger. In my opinion the second most important element is that the contract be standardized and interchangeable. This characteristic allows a volume of trading and open interest to develop which will sustain the contract. Volume is a term that traders use frequently. It refers to the number of contracts traded. It does not refer to the number of traders because a trader can trade more than one contract. For every buyer, there is a seller. When the first trade is made in a new futures contract, the volume is one contract and there are two traders involved, the buyer and the seller. The open interest is also one.

Open interest refers to the number of contracts that must be liquidated before the contract expires. On the first trade, the open interest is one. On the last day of trading, the open interest is closed out.

In the section of your newspaper where the futures prices are shown for the previous days activity, you will find the volume and open interest shown. The previous days volume is usually an estimated number, and the paper will generally list the final volume for the second day back.

The change in the open interest is also generally shown. A plus before the number indicates that probably more traders are holding on to their positions and that new positions in the market have been created. Since we are dealing with numbers on a piece of paper, there is no limit to the size of the open interest.

For example, each contract might represent a contract of feeder cattle which is equivalent to 40,000 pounds. Theoretically, the open interest could represent more feeder cattle than there is in existence. The reason for this is possible is because the futures markets are a pricing mechanism. The final price is the summation of all the trades that have been made, at the number of trades and traders theoretically unlimited.

The daily volume may exceed the size of the open interest. In this case, most trades that were created in the trading session were closed out before the end of the trading session. If this was not the case, the open interest would increase as traders hold on to their positions.

If you are in phase with the flow of the price, the markets will pay you a handsome dividend. The flow of March feeder cattle remains down. In accordance with last week's article, the trend of the market has turned down also with the close below $80.50. The "flow" is a short term directional indicator. When an uptrending market tops out, the flow will turn down first, and then at a later time, the "trend" may be broken.

There is resistance at $82.45. There is some support at $59.80 and $56.75. The flow and trend of June live cattle (fats) remains down. The resistance is at $57.20. There is some support at $54.25 and $51.00.

The flow of February hog remains down with the trend up. The resistance is at $52.60. There is good support at $49.15 with some support at $47.40. In accordance with last week's article, the support at $48.40 was tested on December 22 with the bottom at $46.50.

The flow and trend of July corn remains down. There is resistance around $1.87. In accordance with last week's article, the support around $1.72 is being tested with the low on December 18, 22, and 23 of $1.73.

The flow of May wheat remains down and the trend up. The resistance is around $2.57 with good support around $2.56.

The trend of March soybeans remains sideways. The boundary of the sideways pattern are $8.11 and $4.88. A close below $4.88 will change the flow and the trend down. A bottom occurred on December 18 at $4.88. This could be the bottom of this down move in the sideways pattern. You will probably know the answer by the time you read this article. You will have the benefit of hindsight. I don't have that luxury.

The flow and trend of June Treasury Bills remains down. The resistance is around $6.10. Treasury Bill futures are traded with numbers that are the reciprocal of interest rates. As T-Bills futures move lower, interest rates are becoming higher.

Commodity Insight Week Ending Dec. 25

There is a quarterly event known as triple witching day that has caught the attention of the media. On four Fridays a year, stock index options, index futures and options on individual stocks expire at once. On expiration day traders have to close out their trades or roll them over to another contract month.

Triple witching day can be very volatile. Fireworks or flairs is usually the order of the day. It is estimated that program traders, those who use computers to trade options, futures and stocks, are looking to dump from $1 billion to $7 billion worth of stock on any given triple witching day.

This past Friday was a triple witching day. As things developed it was a very quiet day. There was no real fireworks to speak of and the day was rather uneventful. The only thing that I found of interest was the fact that a record volume of 244 million shares traded hands on the New York Stock Exchange. More than 85 million shares of that total traded in the final two minutes. That's amazing.

While the media focused upon triple witching hour for the financial markets the agricultural markets were ignored. It's a shame too. Because the ag markets experienced some wild and crazy trading that rivaled anything usually found on a triple witching day in the financial markets.

All the December futures contracts expired last Friday for livestock and grains. And expired they did. Actually prices for these expiring futures contracts collapsed.

December hogs went off the board near the $52 level which was down $1.42 for the day. December cattle expired at $59.70, under the very important $60 level. This was a very bearish close for the cattle and could be a preview of coming attractions.

The wheat market had troubles of its own on this triple witching day. December wheat, which was thought to be a market leader, collapsed to the $2.51 level. That was a decline of .17 cents for the day. Talk about a train wreck!

The most amazing thing of all however, was the fact that December oats expired .20 cents over December corn. That was the widest price ever for oats over the price of corn. All this on a day that the media has named triple witching day.

The year 1986 appears to be ending on a very bearish note. The commodity markets are demoralized and there seems little hope that the situation will improve in the days and months ahead.

All is not lost however. There are some markets that will increase in

ABS Beef Seminar At Denver Stock Show

ABS is proud to welcome you to the 1987 "Performance for Profit" conference on Friday, January 18, 1987, in conjunction with the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado. value in the near future. Each of these markets should be watched and studied by traders and producers. It seems likely that cattle, wheat, silver and soybeans will increase in value by late spring. But as always with markets, time will tell.

This week happens to be another holiday shortened week. This time the holiday is Christmas. I had high hopes that this Christmas would be a perfect Christmas. A perfect Christmas to me is one where I never hear the song "Grandma Got Run Over by a Reindeer".

The Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey, Illinois played that song on the campus radio station WLCA-FM for 18 hours in a row. Those demented disk jockeys played that song 172 times on Friday. So much for my perfect Christmas. I believe that a new scenario for the commodity markets is upon us. Commodity prices will rise while bond prices and stock prices fall. If you would like more information about my forecasts for grains, livestock, metals or the financials contact me at Commodity Insight, 8182 Maryland Avenue, Suite 102, St. Louis, Missouri 63105. Phone 314-728-7928. Sample market letters are available upon request.

TEXAS HEREFORD NEWS

Denver Hereford Show Scheduled

Denver - The anticipation of being Denver-bound is building as the National Western Stock Show national Hereford events draw near. Known as the "granddaddy" of all Hereford shows, Denver is the greatest opportunity for Hereford people to see cattle from across the nation circle the showing in contention for more than $20,000 in premiums in their determination of the industry's future direction.

The Hereford Sale Order Judging in the initial event beginning the 81st year of Hereford competition at the National Western. Penny Hollman, San Luis Obispo, Ca., will judge the sale cattle at 8:00 a.m. Sunday, January 18, in the Stadium Arena.

As 10:00 a.m. nears and the Livestock Center-Yards pavilion fills to capacity, 19 exhibitors will prepare their entries for the Carload Bull Show. Ron Baker, Ada, Mo.; Dale Barber, Channing, Tx.; and Ferral Meeks, Taylors, Mo., are set to evaluate and place the seven spring, four junior, and two senior rail and six yearling bull loads.

The $26,000 National Hereford Show will take place on Monday, January 19, at 8:00 a.m. in the Stadium Arena. Ned Purtle, Hope, Ar., has been given the honors of judging the 300 head on-the-hill show representing 60 breeding programs in 26 states and Canada.

The cattle that began the 1986 Denver show in the Sale Order Judging will close the event as they return in the National Western Hereford Sale on Tuesday, January 20, at 9:00 a.m. In addition, Herd Bull Alley, featuring many of the breed's dominant sires, will be an exhibit in the Yards throughout the show and the Colorado Hereford Association will hold their annual dinner-dance on Sunday evening.

Once again, the headquarters for the Denver show will be the Marriott City Center Hotel. The American Hereford Association has reserved room blocks in the Marriott and Inn at the Mart Hotels. Anyone wishing to make room reservations or inquiries should contact the AHA's Department of Information at P.O. Box 4069, Kansas City.

Most Efficient Hereford Cows Are Recognized

Kansas City - The American Hereford Association has announced that special recognition has been given to 1,496 cows that are included in the latest Total Performance Records Program's Most Efficient Cow Report. The cows have efficiently combined fertility and growth, the two traits of highest economic importance to the producer.

There were 22 Texas breeding programs represented by 81 cows on the elite list.

Each of the 87 cows must have met rigid requirements to be named in the elite group. A cow must be four years of age or older, must have had her first calf at 26 months or younger, have a 370-day or less calving interval, and her calves must have weaned at least five percent above the herd average. As the criteria for listing is so stringent, only

Donald Coughlin, Tonkawa, Okla., selected a polled, fullblood, Big Bud Son as the second high selling Simmental at $2,000. This from eight bulls was consigned by L.H. Simmentals, Collinsville, Okla. Overall, 37 Simmentals averaged $1,537.

Texas Loses 20,000 Producing Wells Says RRC Chairman Nugent

Austin — Railroad Commission Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent said Texas has lost more than 20,000 producing wells since the first of the year, calling the loss a "hemorrhage that is bleeding reserves and revenues not only from industry but from the state as well."

Nugent said Commission studies show a drop of over 17,000 producing oil wells and 8,000 producing gas wells since Jan. 1, marking the first year in a decade that the number of producing oil wells in the state has declined, and the second yearly drop in producing gas wells after 13 years of increases.

"Most of these wells are stripper wells. Operators have been hanging on each month by their fingernails, hoping that crude prices will increase sufficiently to make them economical," he said. "Tragically, the numbers speak for themselves. Operators can no longer afford to produce them."

Nugent went on to say the producing well loss bodes ill for the future of the state that is already heavy in stripper wells in oil and rapidly becoming so in gas. "Over 66 percent of the oil wells in Texas produce 10 barrels of oil or less per day; 20 percent of our total state production," he said, "and almost 61,000 wells produce three barrels a day or less. Some 42 percent of Texas gas wells produce less than 100 Mcf (thousand cubic feet) per day, putting them in the marginal, or stripper category."

$1,550 for the MPT Mainstream Son. There was standing room only at the CSC sale as producers turned out in large numbers to bid on a tremendous lot of bulls that will add pounds and quality to their calf crop.

The sale is held annually in December at the Connors campus. For further information, contact Gary Harding, P.O. Box 538, Warner, OK 74409 or call (918) 458-2931.

THE TEXAS EXPERIENCE

The Texas Mystique

Until Alaska entered the Union, Texas was unique among the states by virtue of its size. In mythic terms, Texas still seems to be the biggest state says literary historian Don Graham. It is the only state that has a distinct identity known equally in Great Britain, Germany, Peru, and Zimbabwe. The Texas Mystique is as good a name as any to call this phenomenon.

Personifying Texas, the stereotypical male from the Lone Star state is a larger-than-life figure of bluster, power, and crude energy. He talks with a heavy drawl and has a costume as recognizable as an Arab sheik's hat, boots, string tie, big belt buckle. His favorite song is "The Yellow Rose of Texas"; his favorite drink is bourbon and branch; his favorite automobile is the Cadillac. He is polite to women and likes to call them fillies; he loves Texas, the Dallas Cowboys, and America in that order.

This stereotype of the Texan, which has a long and colorful history in American popular culture, has surfaced in many forms: stage plays, dime novels, penny post cards, Western pulp fiction, country-and-western music, and of course movies and television. But the character has even been perpetuated in more serious forms of discourse, Graham adds.

Without Texas historians, for example, it might never have achieved such long-lived currency. The Texas Rangers, in Walter P. ## Amarillo; Brush Video Livestock Auctions Merge

A landmark merger of two of the leading video livestock marketing firms has been announced. The Amarillo Livestock Video Auction and the Brush Livestock Video Auction, Inc., are merging to become Superior Livestock Auctions, Inc., according to principals of both companies.

Superior Livestock Auctions will have offices in Amarillo and in Fort Worth at the old Livestock Exchange Building at the Fort Worth Stockyards. The merged firm will offer video livestock marketing services throughout the entire country. It will operate as a satellite video auction, a unique marketing concept which enables livestock sellers to reach hundreds, or even thousands of potential buyers from coast to coast via a communication satellite. Superior Livestock Auctions will kick off with the National Western Heiringer Stock and Feeder Auction on January 21, 1987. At this time, they plan to have ten sales throughout the year, with dates to be announced in the near future. Sheep and lamb marketing will also be added to the new firm's structure, starting in the 1987 fall marketing season.

Buddy Jeffers, whose Amarillo Livestock Video Auction pioneered the satellite concept for selling cattle, will be president of the new company. Jim Odle, who has operated the Odle Video Auction since 1979, will be Vice-President and general manager. The Amarillo and Odle video auctions have had combined sales of more than a half million cattle.

Odle has been in the auction and livestock marketing business most of his life. He operated livestock auction companies in Brush and Greeley, Colorado before starting his video auction service.

"Our video sale has served cattle buyers and sellers across parts of Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Nevada, Idaho, Kansas and Nebraska," says Odle, who has conducted his video auctions in Denver before from 400 to 800 potential buyers.

"The satellite concept of selling cattle will enhance our operation and enable us to serve many more buyers and sellers than in the past."

Jeffers, a long-time rancher and agribusinessman, says Superior Auctions will originate either from Fort Worth or Denver. Auction television signals will be beamed via satellite to central locations in Florida, Oklahoma and other areas. Individuals with a television equipped with a satellite receiver dish may also view and buy at the auctions.

Jeffers' company conducted its first satellite cattle auction in August 1985. Since then, it has conducted several sales.

AVOID CHANGING WELL LEATHERS FOR MANY YEARS
 Perma-cups are molded urethane, more wear resistant than nylon. Perma-cups will outlast leather 10 to 1. They tapered design allows only 1/8" wear. Instead of 5/8" of a leather. Much less friction for easier pumping extends cylinder life greatly. Perma-cups must be used in good or new cylinder, as they do not swell. Install Urethane Perma-cups Urethane Check-balls, and Urethane Pump Rod-guides, and don't get wells that have not been resealed in 9 years! All are available in standard cylinder and pipe sizes.
